Stop Distracted Driving

CRAIG, KELLEY & FAULTLESS has, for the past several years, worked to educate high school students and adults about the dangers of distracted driving. Our firm has handled many cases where people have been seriously injured or killed by distracted driving. In fact, our firm sees more instances of wrecks caused by distracted driving than impaired driving.

On June 23rd, 2015 our employee, Clint Crabtree, worked with high school students from Pendleton High School. Clint took two of our firm's distracted driving simulators to the high school's driver education class to demonstrate to the students the problems caused by texting and driving. These driving simulators are state of the art and have been used by the law firm at driver education classes as well as community safety events for several years.
